drupa2016 will be held in Düsseldorf, Germany, for eleven days, Tuesday, May 31 to Friday, June 10, 2016.

Komori Corporation will exhibit under the theme 'Open New Pages' at drupa 2016.

The following is an outline of the Komori theme.

Through the technologies and solutions presented in the Komori booth, we will show our commitment to becoming the business partner of customers that is capable of improving their margins and increasing their productivity.

= Theme =

Komori drupa 2016 Theme "Open New Pages" Subtheme "Connected Print"

Expanding the new potential of printing and realizing richer print communications — that's what Komori and our customers are looking for.

Open New Pages.

Komori is evolving from a specialist printing press manufacturer to a print engineering service provider (PESP). We will expand the new potential of printing by offering offset presses, digital printing systems, printed electronics (PE), materials and equipment.

Further, Komori will evolve in innovative ways by aiming for "Connected Print."

We will create new value and richer communications by not only connecting our customers' various processes but also by connecting our customers to Komori's diverse functions using the latest technologies, such as the cloud.

Komori wants to help our customers open new pages in business scenarios of every kind.

= Exhibit Machines and Outline =

Komori will exhibit a lineup of hardware that includes offset presses, digital printing systems, and postpress equipment along with software products for the integrated control of these systems as well as K-Supply products that support quality and productivity. We will also present proposals of new business models by demonstrating values and solutions created by connecting these products.

drupa 2016: Count on seeing the best at the Komori booth. We look forward to seeing you.
